seek, share, rejoice - this week's readings and more...

18th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Below are key excerpts from Sunday's readings

First Reading:

Thus says the LORD: All you who are thirsty, come to the water! (Is 55:1)

Psalm:

The hand of the Lord feeds us; he answers all our needs. (Ps 145)

Second Reading:

For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor present things, nor future things, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Rom 8:38-39)

Gospel:

Taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing, broke the loaves, and gave them to the disciples, who in turn gave them to the crowds. (Mt 14:19)

Meditation on Sunday's Gospel

Matthew 14:13-21

We all know that moment when the mood changes, when life turns from lighthearted to deadly serious. That happens in today's Gospel. Jesus has just heard that John the Baptist, his cousin, forerunner, and friend, has been murdered. As Matthew tells us, "When Jesus heard of it, he withdrew in a boat to a deserted place by himself." Until now, he had been teaching in parables and healing quietly. But John's death signals a new phase. The shadow of the Cross begins to fall. Evil shows its teeth.

And how does Jesus respond? Not with rage or despair. He goes to a lonely place to go into deep communion with his Father. From that silence comes action. He feeds the multitude. Out of grief comes generosity. Out of sorrow, life.

This is the rhythm of every disciple's life. When tragedy or violence breaks our hearts, we face a choice. We can react, or we can retreat into prayer — like and with Christ. This is the hidden place where pain becomes compassion and compassion becomes self-gift.

Lord Jesus, when life intensifies, draw me into Your quiet strength. In that hidden place with You and the Father, turn my heartbreak into the bread of love for the world. Amen.

— Father John Muir

Questions of the week

1st Reading Question

Isaiah speaks of the Lord's invitation to all to join in His feast of rich food and drink without cost. To whom can you show generosity to this week?

2nd Reading Question

Paul is convinced that nothing in this life can separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. When do you feel closest to God?

Gospel Question

Moved with pity for the crowds, Jesus healed the sick among them and fed thousands with only five loaves and two fish. Can you think of a time when someone showed compassion toward you?

Catholic Trivia - Just for Fun

Question: In addition to Jesus' mother Mary, which saint is depicted in artwork more than any other?

Answer: St. Nicholas

Music Ministry

A special thank you to Suzanne Barrett and tribute to Nancy and Fr. Jim Barrett

During the Christmas season, Fr. Jim Barrett used to joke that his sister Nancy loved coming to OLPH - not to see him - but just to attend the Christmas Choir Mass. The humor was about the fact that seeing her brother Jim wasn't the point of her trip - it was to hear our choir. Fr. Jim shared this with us, saying how much our choir meant to her. Shortly after Christmas 2024, Fr. Jim and his younger sister Suzanne lost their sister Nancy.

Father Jim and Suzanne wanted me to find a way to commemorate Nancy which would also benefit the choir. After a lot of thought, I came up with the idea of purchasing choir folders in memory of Nancy. Fr. Jim and Suzanne loved the idea.

I am happy to say the choir folders are now in and look beautiful.

I want to thank Suzanne for her generous donation which is also on behalf of Fr. Jim, who of course passed away at Christmastime last year. I was always grateful for his wonderful and kind support of the music ministry, and for his humor, dedication and the wisdom that he shared with our parish.

These folders will serve us well for organizing our music, but most of all will be a nice remembrance of Fr. Jim and his wonderful sisters.

Fr. Barrett Book Club

(In honor of our late, great Fr. Jim Barrett, we have permanently named the Book Club for him.)

Book: "Return of the Prodigal Son - A Story of Homecoming" by Fr. Henri J. M. Nouwen

Date & Time: Tue., Sept. 29, 7:00 - 9:00pm

Place: Conference Room 1, 3rd Floor Parish Center

In recent Bulletins, we have been providing parishioners with a number of inspiring and thought provoking summer reading ideas. One of those recommended books is our next book club selection: "The Return of the Prodigal Son - A Story of Homecoming" - a perfect choice as the seasons begin to change and we look forward to fall.

All parishioners are invited to join us in reading this book together and then meet in September for a lively discussion.

The Parable of the Prodigal Son is one of Jesus' greatest parables. It forces us to ponder the mystery of our all-loving God, and to see ourselves in each of the three characters in the parable. This is what Fr. Nouwen does after he encounters Rembrandt's moving painting "The Return of the Prodigal Son" for which his book is named. It is among the Dutch master's final works, likely completed within two years of his death in 1669. The painting is depicted on the book's cover.

The book is divided into three parts, one each for:

- the wayward Younger Son,
- the righteous Older Son,
- and their forgiving Father.

In each part Fr. Nouwen meditates on the painting and on the character described, and in the process he learns much about himself and his spiritual journey here on earth. You will, too, so come and join us as we discuss and learn from this wonderful book and parable.

Henri J.M. Nouwen was a Dutch-born Catholic priest, professor, and pastor who gained international renown as author of over thirty books on the spiritual life. Since his death in 1996, an increasing number of readers have been guided by his literary legacy.

Project Update: Lexington

As we always like to say, things never slow down at OLPH. Right now we have major projects going on in the Lexington Building which houses both school administration and classrooms. These projects involve both security and access. They include:

- New elevator shaft
- Two new security windows and a new security door to enter the office
- Two new ADA bathrooms, one on the first floor and one on the second floor, to accomodate elevator installation
- New offices

We appreciate your patience as this important work is being done. Check out these photos to see the latest progress.

Summer with St. Francis

From the book The Life of St. Francis written by St. Bonaventure, a Franciscan monk and mystic, in 1260.

Week 7, Chapter 5

On the Austerity of His Life and How Creation Provided Him Comfort

Although Francis energetically urged the friars to lead an austere life, he was not pleased by an overstrict severity that did not put on a heart of compassion and was not seasoned with the salt of discretion. One night a friar was tormented with hunger because of his excessive fasting and was unable to get any rest. When the devoted shepherd realized that danger threatened one of his sheep, he called the friar and put some bread before him. Then to take away his embarrassment, Francis himself began to eat first and affectionately invited him to eat.

The friar overcame his embarrassment and took the food, overjoyed that through the discreet condescension of the shepherd he had avoided harm to his body and received an edifying example of no small proportion. When morning came, the man of God called the friars together and told them what had happened during the night, adding this advice: "Brothers, in this incident let the charity and not the food be an example to you." He taught them besides to follow prudence as the charioteer of the virtues, not the prudence which the flesh recommends, but the prudence taught by Christ, whose most holy life expressed for us the model of perfection.

Encompassed by the weakness of the flesh, man could not follow the spotless crucified Lamb so perfectly as to avoid contacting any filth. Therefore Francis taught that those who strive after the perfect life should cleanse themselves daily with streams of tears. Although he had already attained extraordinary purity of heart and body, he did not cease to cleanse the eyes of his soul with a continuous flood of tears, unconcerned about the loss of his bodily sight.

When he had incurred a very serious eye illness from his continuous weeping, and a doctor advised him to restrain his tears if he wanted to avoid losing his sight, the holy man answered: "Brother doctor, we should not stave off a visitation of heavenly light even a little because of love of the light, which we have in common with flies. For the body receives the gift of light for the sake of the spirit and not the spirit for the sake of the body." He preferred to lose his sight rather than to repress the devotion of his spirit and hold back the tears which cleansed his interior vision so that he could see God.

Once he was advised by doctors and strongly urged by the friars to allow himself to be cauterized to relieve the problems with his eyes. The man of God agreed humbly because he realized that it would be at once good for his health and harsh on his body. So a surgeon was called, and when he came, he placed an iron on the fire for performing the cauterization. But Christ's servant encouraged his body, which was now struck with horror, and began to speak to the fire as a friend: "My brother fire, whose beauty is the envy of all other creatures, the most high has created you strong, beautiful, and useful. Be kind to me in this hour, be courteous! I beseech the great Lord who created you to temper your heat for me so that you will burn gently, and I can endure it."

When he had finished his prayer, he made the sign of the cross over the instrument that glowed with fire, and he waited unafraid. The iron was plunged hissing into the sensitive flesh and was drawn from his ear to his eyebrow in the process of cauterizing.

How much pain the fire caused, the holy man himself expressed: "Praise the Most High," he said to the friars, "because I tell you truly, I felt neither the heat of the fire nor any pain in my flesh." And turning to the doctor, he said: "If my flesh is not well cauterized, then do it again!" The experienced doctor marveled at such strength of spirit in his weak body, and he proclaimed it a divine miracle, saying: "I say to you, brothers, I have seen wonderful things today."

Francis had reached such purity that his body was in remarkable harmony with his spirit and his spirit with God. As a result, God ordained that creation which serves its Maker should be subject in an extraordinary way to his will and command.

Another time when Francis was suffering from a very serious illness at the hermitage of Sant' Urbano, feeling his physical weakness, he asked for a drink of wine. He was told that there was no wine to give him; so Francis ordered water, and when it was brought, he blessed it with the sign of the cross. At once, what had been pure water was changed into the best wine; and what the poverty of this deserted place could not provide was obtained by the purity of the holy man.

With a taste of this wine, he immediately regained his health so easily that the newness of the taste and the recovery of his health, by supernaturally renewing the drink and the one who drank, confirmed by a double testimony that he had perfectly put off the old man and put on the new.

Not only did creation serve God's servant at his beck and call, but the Creator's providence itself everywhere inclined itself to Francis' good pleasure. One time when his body was weighed down by many forms of illness, he had the desire to hear some music to awaken and delight his spirit. But since it was considered inappropriate that this should be done for him by human musicians, angels came to indulge the holy man's wish.

One night when he was watching and meditating about the Lord, he suddenly heard the sound of a lute playing wonderful harmony and a very sweet melody. No one was seen, but Francis was aware that the musician was moving back and forth by the fluctuation of the sound.

With his spirit directed to God, Francis enjoyed so thoroughly the beauty of that sweet-sounding song that he thought he had been transported to another world. This did not remain hidden from the friars who were close to him, for they often used to see clear indications that he was visited by the Lord, who gave Francis such overwhelming and frequent consolation that he could not hide it completely.

At another time when the man of God and a companion were walking on the banks of the River Po while on a journey of preaching between Lombardy and the Marches of Treviso, they were overtaken by the darkness of night. The road was exposed to many great dangers because of the darkness, the river, and some swamps. His companion said to the holy man: "Pray, father, that we may be saved from these threatening dangers!" Full of confidence, the man of God answered him: "God has the power, if it pleases him in his sweetness, to disperse this darkness and give us the benefit of light."

Scarcely had he finished speaking when, behold, such a great light began to shine around them with heavenly radiance that they could see in clear light, not only the road, but also many other things all around them, although the night remained dark elsewhere. By the guidance of this light, they were led physically and comforted spiritually; singing hymns of praise to God they arrived safely at their lodging, which was quite a stretch of road away.

Consider carefully the marvelous purity and the degree of virtue that Francis attained. At his mere wish fire tempered its heat, water changed its taste, an angelic melody brought him comfort. and a divine light gave him guidance. It is proven that all of creation came to the service of the sanctified senses of this holy man.

From The Life of St. Francis, written by St. Bonaventure in 1260. Public domain translation.

We will continue next week with Chapter 6 On His Humility and Obedience and God's Condescension to His Slightest Wish.

Be like Francis

Reflect Over time, St. Francis' eyes began to weaken and doctors advised a cauterization—a deliberate burning of the eyes—with hopes of a cure. St. Francis, in his true manner, saw God in all things and "spoke" to the burning instrument, asking for gentleness. As with so many things in his life, he praised God for everything—even things difficult and frightening. He knew God was there.

Pray O St. Francis, please pray that I, too, may turn to God in times of fear. Please help me to see God in everything around me. Help me to trust that he is with me and helping me—no matter how scary the situation.

Act Anything worrisome coming up in your life? A visit with difficult people? A surgery? An uncomfortable project at work? Try to remember St. Francis' heavy leaning on God for his eye cauterization. As an experiment, try to see God in your upcoming trial, and try thanking him for the difficulty. See how God answers your prayers!

Planned Giving

Gospel: Matthew 14:13-21

Reflection: As evening approaches, the disciples suggest dismissing the crowd so they can find food elsewhere, but Jesus challenges them with a surprising command:

"There is no need for them to go away; give them some food yourselves."

Jesus is not asking the disciples to solve the problem on their own. He is asking them to place what little they have into His hands. The miracle occurred not because the disciples had enough, but because they surrendered what they had.

Takeaway of the Week: This week, the Lord invites us to stop focusing on what we lack and start offering Him what we have. We may feel overwhelmed by responsibilities, challenges, or the needs of those around us. Yet Jesus reminds us that great miracles begin with small acts of faith. When we place our time, talents, resources, and hearts into His hands, He multiplies them in ways we could never imagine.

As stewards of our faith, you can express your gratitude for God's gifts and help ensure that God's work on earth continues to multiply by considering a charitable gift annuity. When you establish a charitable gift annuity with the archdiocese, not only will you receive fixed payments for life, but you can designate your parish as the remainder beneficiary.

How It Works:

1. Make a gift of $10,000 or more to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Fund your gift annuity with cash or securities.
2. Receive fixed payments for life – for yourself or a loved one age 60 or older. Payment rates are based upon the age of the annuitant at the time you establish the gift annuity.
3. Enjoy immediate and future tax benefits, including a federal income tax deduction for a portion of your gift, if you itemize. You can schedule payments according to your financial needs, and a portion of each annuity payment will be tax-free (through life expectancy).
4. The funds remaining after your lifetime will support your parish or school – as designated by you.
